

Erin Hills Golf Club Logo

The unique design of the brackets of the old Erin Hill's bell provides the inspiration for one of the best golf course logos around, the Erin Hills clover logo.

The iron art also appears to have two facing E's. The very Irish theme of Erin Hill's lodge, Guinness bar, and stonework make this the perfect logo for Erin Hills. Clovers are also considered a good luck charm, which helps in merchandise sales for every golfer looking for extra luck on the course.

The logo was designed by Brenda Williams of ElliottWilliamsDesign.com of Minnetrista Minnesota.

The iron bell is the only real reminder of a blind par-three hole before the redesign of the course. It was used by golfers to ring and to signal to the group on the tee that it was safe to hit.
